What is Get Togetha?

Get Togetha is a modern home décor, home entertaining and lifestyle blog that features weekly content and ideas on stylish modern spaces with a focus on apartment and small space living. At Get Togetha we break down the barriers long held within interior design by offering our readers the information they need to make informed and chic home décor choices. The Get Togetha blog seeks to help women become more confident in trusting their own design and decorating instincts—all within the reigns of their financial boundaries. The days of having to live in a hodgepodge vanilla box are long gone. With a plan we can love our living spaces, live stylishly, entertain friends, and live our best lifestyle now. Our motto: date trends but don't marry them.

Why Get Togetha is Not Another Shelter Blog

One visit to the Get Togetha Blog and you'll notice five things: passion, commitment, community, quality content, and influence. Get Togetha inspires curiosity and leaves readers with a memorable experience. We are also a lively interactive blog with an exciting collection of thoughts and ideas from women all over the world.

Our Inspiration and Our Mission.

Get Togetha's target audience, although not mutually exclusive, are women between the ages of 21- 35. They are Get Togetha's vibrant community and provide invaluable feedback in the form of opinion and shared passion. Get Togetha's mission is to educate and engage our target audience on reasonably priced modern contemporary home accessories, entertaining ideas, hip finds, inspired influence and the necessary investment pieces that make chic living possible.

Why You Should Feature Get Togetha

High-end interior designers are inaccessible to the average person; but design for all is a reality that is here to stay. And that's where Get Togetha's responsibility lies: in connecting readers with the resources and information they need to create a living space for much needed respite and a place where they can have friends over—often. GT helps readers avoid pricey home décor errors, avoid cookie cutter design and more importantly helps dwellers re-ignite their creative dead end by inspiring them with home décor options that'll beautify their surroundings.
